Message from the Conference Chair

Central Valley wastewater agencies face an ever-growing list of current and emerging issues. While agencies and regulators have a shared goal of maintaining clean water, we often differ on how to achieve that. There are no easy answers. As our permits get increasingly complex and costly to comply with, and as new issues are evaluated for potential inclusion in future permits, the question we must ask is: "Where is This Road Taking Us?"

This conference features nine speakers and two group discussion sessions covering a range of topics including recent significant discharge permitting developments, driving issues behind new regulations, and updates from state and regional regulators on discharge and sewer overflow permitting and enforcement. The goal is to present and discuss the current issues and how we will collectively navigate the road ahead and balance the needs of the public. The conference is also a great networking opportunity, and we've set aside enough time for the morning break and lunch to give everyone a chance to network with their peers.

I'd like to thank everyone who is contributing to the success of this conference. Sacramento Area Sewer District (SASD) and Sacramento Regional County Sanitation District (SRCSD) are providing their facilities free of charge for the second year in a row, allowing us to once again offer registration at a reduced price during these tough economic times. Many CVCWA members have contributed to conference planning and preparation. Finally, thank you to all the speakers who are contributing their time and energy to this event. I look forward to seeing everyone at the conference!
